Report from Yokosuka Japan
 Source: Chinese journalist with extensive connections with Nationalist government
 Date of Info: April - June 1952

THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION IS EXCERPTED VERBATIM

2. A quarrel in which General HO (HO Shih-li) opposes CHANG Po-chin, chief of the Second Section of the Chinese Mission; SUNG Yueh-lun, public relations officer of the mission; and YUAN Wei-hsin, former chief of the mission's General Affairs Section. CHANG, SUNG, and YUAN have accused HO of illegally withholding their pay. SUNG incurred General HO's displeasure when he accompanied OGATA Taketora, Premier YOSHIDA's envoy, from Taiwan to Hong Kong without consulting HO. SUNG's original assignment was to go to Taiwan only.<sup>3</sup> SUNG claims, however, that he was ordered to Hong Kong by CHIANG Kai-shek to see that OGATA was not surrounded by Third Force supporters.....

3. Source Comment. He attempted to impress OGATA before he left for Taiwan, because he still hopes to become China's first post-war ambassador to Japan, and sent SUNG to Taiwan to help make arrangements for OGATA's visit there.
